Introducing FLUX

CUSTOM CERTIFICATION AUTOMATION

What is FLUX?

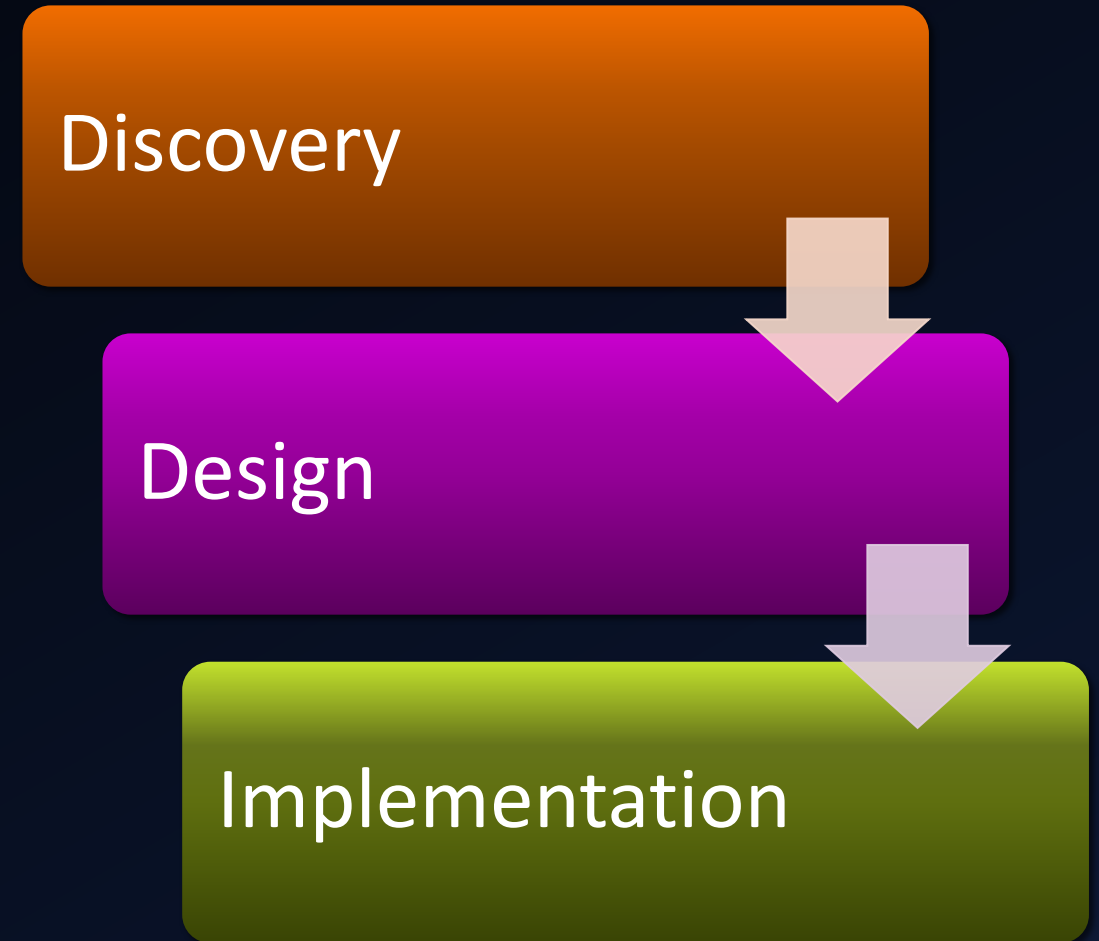

- FLUX is a powerful, yet easy to use web-based application that automates the certification process for many organizations.
- The system allows users to register via any web accessible device, such as a phone, tablet, or pc.
- The certification process is tracked from start to finish using the management console.
- Upon completion, the system is able to replicate official paper document & forms, as well as include actual user signatures.

Why Use a Custom Web Application?

- Increased Productivity
 - Most applications see user efficiency increase 2:1
- Unlimited Customization
- Ability to mimic manual processes
- Tracking and Management

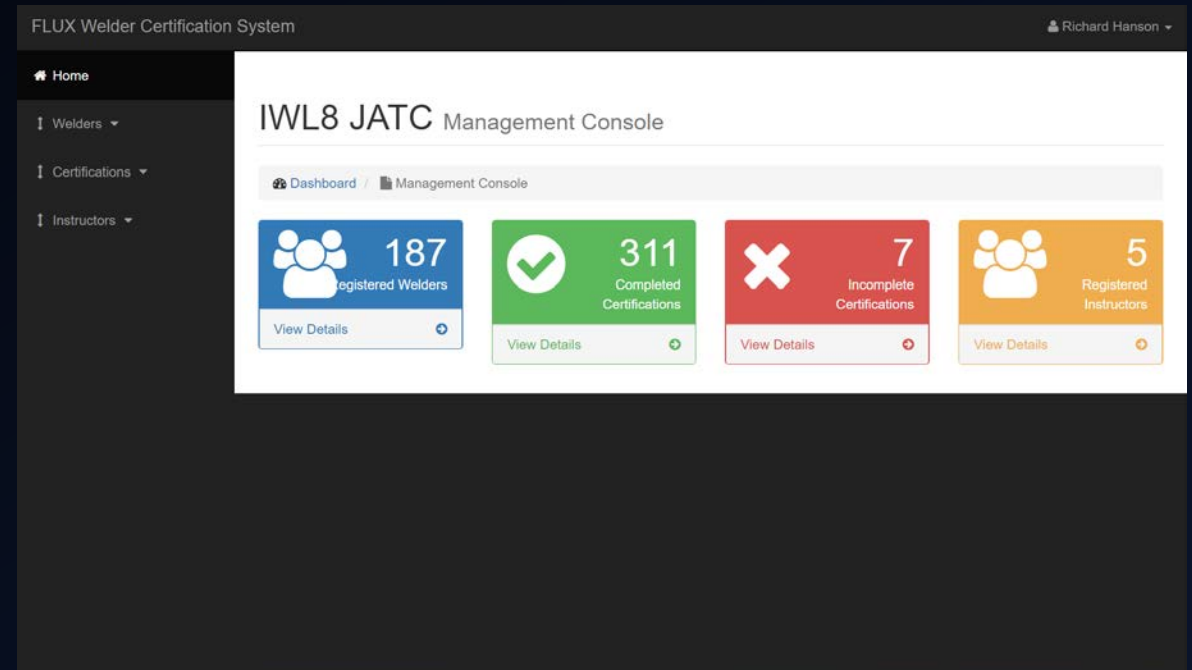

The Customization Process

- Discovery
We observe the current process, nothing any solution opportunities.
- Design
Using the customer specifications, and our own discovery notes, we begin designing and programming the system.
- Implementation
Once the system has been designed, tested, and passed customer authorization, we launch and integrate the system.

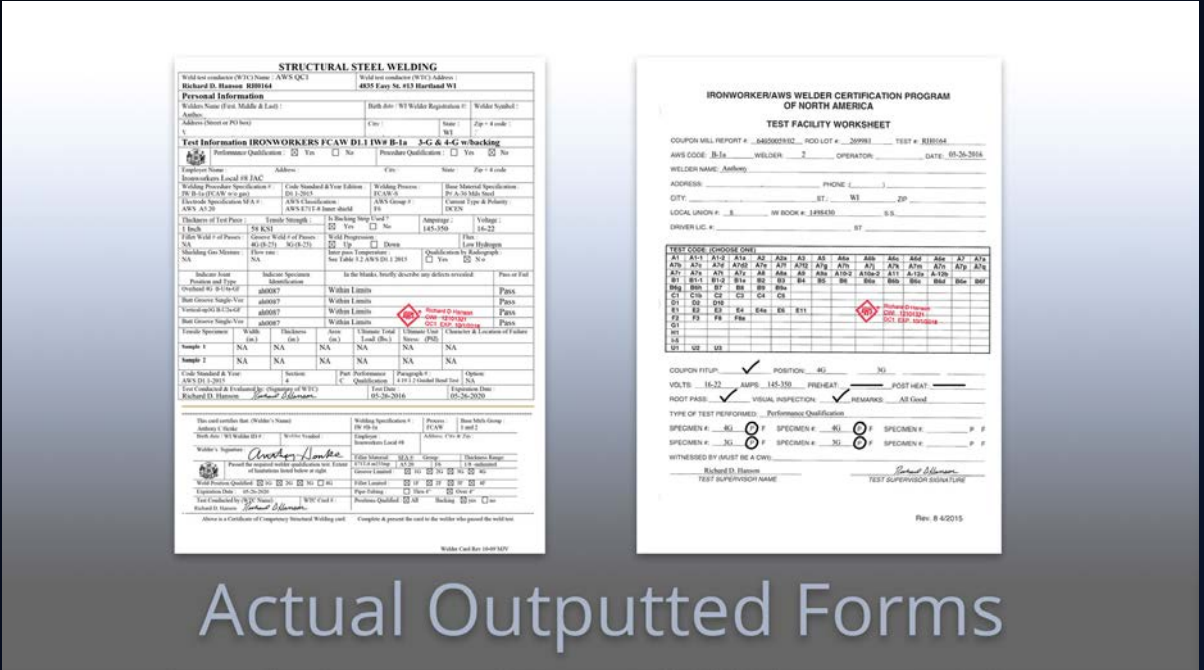

The Management Console

- Users
- Instructors
- Certification Types
- Certification Tracking

Document Output
